

Truex Preferred Construction

When you're looking for a builder who treats you like family

Let's assume you are in the market for a new home. You've visited all the model homes out there and, while some have impressed you and your family, there's something missing. Maybe it's the quality. Maybe it's the feeling you were feeling rushed, pushed and being "sold." Maybe it's just something you can't put your finger on. For whatever reason, you're still looking.

May we please invite you to visit Truex Preferred Construction? This is not a giant, national homebuilder, which means you'll receive Class A personal attention. It's small enough to treat you like you're their only client, like family even, yet large enough in experience and talent to provide design and construction management of a multimillion-dollar home or office building.

Led by Bill Truex, president, and wife Andrea, this company has one core mission: to provide the finest personalized service and build the very best while always doing the right thing for clients, suppliers, subcontractors and the community. The company employs eight, if you count Bill, so that unique corporate culture is protected and practiced by every individual you may come into contact with during your experience.

Let's assume something else. Let's assume you've never built a home in Florida before. Maybe you were involved in the construction of a home years ago in another part of the country. Building in Florida is significantly different. This is why a company such as Truex stands head and shoulders above others. Depth and breadth of experience is priceless once you get into the process. With Truex, nothing is standard – everything is custom, from the way you are treated at "hello" until the day you are handed the keys to your new home.

The knowledge and experience these eight professionals possess is rare indeed. That's why so many locals have rave reviews to share about Truex Preferred Construction. Bill and his family have been major influences in the greater Charlotte Community since 1992. Bill is now serving his second, four-year term as Charlotte County Commissioner and serves on a myriad of local and statewide committees. Yet he still retains a hands-on approach to each and every project. "I simply treat others as I want to be treated," he recently stated.

An intimate familiarity with the codes, the climate and the community are just three unique qualities you'll see when you work with Truex.

So let's assume you've been to all the models and are still looking for something unique, something different. Truex offers 17 model homes ready to build, from 2,000 to over 5,000-square-feet. And if none of those are your favorite, they are delighted to custom design and build your forever dream home.

You'll be treated like family here – and that's rare in today's "hurry up and decide" world. Call Truex and schedule an initial consultation soon. You'll be delighted at what you find.
